

Medical Loss Ratio Rebates

Rebates for our fully insured markets

To help support the financial well-being of our employers and members, Anthem will issue medical loss ratio (MLR) rebates early this year. This is the second year in a row that Anthem will mail rebates a month earlier than the September 30 deadline.

What is medical loss ratio?

The medical loss ratio provision of the Affordable Care Act health-reform law encourages health plans to spend most of the premium dollars they collect on health care costs rather than overhead. It's a ratio of insurance premiums to claims costs, and is usually expressed as a percentage.

In the fully insured individual and small group markets, the MLR provision requires plans to spend at least 80% of premium income on health care claims and quality improvement. In the fully insured large group market, it requires at least 85%. When their MLR is below these thresholds, plans must issue rebates.

Who will receive MLR payments this year?

The chart below shows the markets that will receive 2020 MLR rebates. If you have questions, please contact your Anthem representative.
